

Dangler Gasoline Stoves
Received the Grand Prize, Very Highest Award, and Gold Medal at World's Fair, St. Louis.

Simplicity and perfect operation are the features that contribute to the strength and durability of Dangler Vapor Stoves. They are constructed according to the safety requirements of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and are on their list of permitted stoves.

We have these stoves in various sizes and at prices within the reach of all. They burn exactly the same as a gas stove; no preparation required. Turn on a valve, light the burner and you are ready to cook; no ashes, no dirt, always clean and neat. Gives the heat where you want it and when you want it; no waste of fuel, no hot stoves to stand over, no waiting for the fire to start. Bakes beautifully, gives you hot water while you would be building an ordinary fire. Meals can be cooked better and quicker than by any other method except gas and they are not expensive to run. You only use the fire when you want it and then turn it out. All expense ceases at once.

Harry T. Mills, proprietor of Mills' past due agency, was this week refused restoration to citizenship by Governor Frear, after a careful investigation of the matter. The Governor stated that he had given his reasons for his action to Mr. Mills in the letter of refusal he had written, but declined to make them public.

Mills was disbarred some time ago as a member of the Hawaiian bar. Since that time he has been living in Honolulu and making a business of collecting bad debts, which has naturally not added to his popularity with a good many persons.

Recently Mills applied to the Governor for the restitution of his citizenship, submitting some letters in his support.

Proposed Exchange Of Great Interest to Prospective Settlers.

When Dr. Raymond was asked regarding the proposed land exchange with the Government for lands at Ulupalakua, he made the following statement: "Governor Frear has thus far shown himself to be a man of sound business sense and in the management of the affairs of his office he appears to be intensely practical. He is the first Governor of the Territory who has ever at any time been on the lands of Kanae and Kahikini. He is the first Governor who has thoroughly looked over the land of Ulupalakua and the adjacent Government lands in that neighborhood, areas of waste lands that run into the thousands of acres.

"Thus it can be easily seen that he is pursuing the same careful methods in ascertaining the assets of the Government as pertains to public lands, as a shrewd business man would naturally do in the acquisition of a mercantile business in that he insists upon taking an inventory of the stock of goods offered him by the seller of the same, and by so doing he ascertains definitely the exact status of the business; knowing the same, he is prepared to act intelligently.

"The Governor, on his tour of inspection, has learned the truth and he now knows that the bona fide agricultural lands of this Territory, save those lands that are now in use by the sugar plantations, are by far more limited in area than any previous executive officer has appeared to know or would admit, if they did know, and by far less than the great majority of the people ever had any idea of.

"Exact knowledge of conditions is a most important factor in making a proper classification of public lands for future use and a most vital necessity in the formulating of a sound land policy.

"Above all things the Governor has learned for himself that lands hitherto landed by the public press and supposed by the majority of citizens to be agricultural lands are, in fact, waste lands and only a portion of which can be used for good class pastoral lands.

"With an exact knowledge of land conditions it becomes comparatively easy for the Governor and individuals to arrive at an understanding and where the individual land owner has in past every instance thoroughly understood the conditions as they existed, and do now exist, the trouble has been in the past that the officials have been ignorant, hence meeting on a common ground has been almost impossible in these land exchange cases.

"The proposition to be submitted to the Government by the Raymond Ranch is to turn over to the Government a large tract of agricultural land that was formerly used for the cultivation of sugar cane by the late Captain Makee at Ulupalakua, the very heart of the once famous Makee plantation, in exchange for certain tracts of pastoral and waste lands now in use by the Raymond Ranch.

"It is believed by me and those associated with me that, despite strong advice to the contrary, the said exchange will not only open up to some fifty families homesteads upon which more than a living can be made by the homesteaders but that a step will be taken towards Americanizing our Islands and in time produce results that will more than repay us for the apparent sacrifice at this time.

"These lands have produced large crops of cane. They have produced everything in the way of agricultural and horticultural produce that can be found anywhere in the world. Corn, potatoes, apples, tobacco, pineapples and other crops have been successfully grown there.

"The climate is ideal. The roads are good and the wharf within an hour's drive and with great rows of matured eucalyptus trees growing there by the roads they add toward making the place an ideal one for homesteaders. There is a sufficient rainfall for pineapples and for all domestic purposes.

"We are cognizant of the fact that the area of agricultural land is very limited and that these lands are now in demand by asians who have made application time after time to rent them, also that they will necessarily increase in value as the available lands of the Territory are taken up and enhanced by the natural progress that will be made in the country in the future.

"We want to do all we can to aid the Government in securing settlers for the country and our policy of confining ourselves strictly to the cattle business is by no means prompted by selfish business principles. I feel sure that in the end we would make more money by holding our agricultural lands and perhaps grabbing more, but I believe it is the duty of every person here to get in and work for more people and by so doing insure permanent prosperity. Every single acre will be given up for agricultural purposes if the land can be used as such. It is a business proposition to do it."

Doctor W. B. Deas of Hana returned home Saturday by the Claudine. He came back to Wailuku Wednesday on the same boat and is in attendance at Court this week as a witness in the Ryoauki murder case.

The Superintendent of Public Works has appointed Captain Edwin H. Parker as pilot of Kahului harbor in place of Captain Donald F. Nicholson, resigned. Captain Nicholson some time ago sustained a severe injury to one of his eyes, while in the performance of his duties. He is now in the Queen's Hospital, and, as some months are required for a course of treatment, it becomes necessary to give up the office of pilot which needs constant attendance. Captain Parker is well known in the Inter-Island service, his latest command having been the Claudine. The Kahului pilot receives $160 a month.
